

doors all round the hall, but they were all locked;

made of solid glass;

a key,

it might belong to one of the doors of the hall;

it would open

a

not noticed before, door

the door led into a

loveliest garden you ever saw. to wander among those beds of bright flowers and if

I only knew how

very few things were possible.